Here's how vending as a Backyard Farmer works:

1. Backyard Farmers are invited to sell at our Farmer's Market. We encourage small growers to come to the market!
2. You pay a Daily Vending Fee of $5 for a 5' (card table size) space in cash or by check.
3. You may vend up to a maximum of 3 days per year.
4. You supply all your equipment; the market only supplies the space.
5. Backyard Farmers can be any age, but youth farmers should have an adult with them as our staff is not able to be responsible for or supervise them, as they have other duties.
6. Backyard Farmers must grow or produce all the farm products they sell themselves on their own property.
7. No business licenses or permits are required if you ONLY sell fresh fruits and vegetables, that aren't "processed" in any way, (they are just harvested, maybe trimmed, and washed), AND your annual sales are less than $12,000, AND you sell everything by the "bundle or piece", not by weight.
8. If you want to sell by weight, WA state requires a business license (UBI#) and scale registration.
9. Products other than unprocessed fruits and vegetables may require specific licenses and permits. (See "Resources for POFM Vendors" document on our website for links to more information if you want to sell other products.)
10. You should keep all edibles at least 24" off the ground to prevent dogs and small children from reaching them. Table height is even better.
11. You do not have to stay until the market closes at 3pm but you cannot bring a vehicle into the market until 3:15pm. So, if you leave early, you must hand carry all your property outside the market.
12. Backyard Farmers must follow all procedures & rules outlined in the current Member / Vendor Guide, Market Rules & Bylaws, including but not limited to:
 - Arrive at the market in time to unload, move vehicle & set up before market opens at 9am
 - Park any vehicle(s) in vendor designated parking areas only
 - Follow market manager & staff instructions
 - Honestly report daily sales made at my booth
 - Downloaded or was given a printed copy of the Vendor Guide - Market Policies, Rules, and Bylaws. I agree to follow all policies, rules, and bylaws in the Vendor Guide and make sure anyone working at my booth does as well.
 - Accept the $5 and $1 wooden credit/debit tokens
 - Abide by the requirement of 50 pounds of weight if using a market umbrella, (Backyard Farmers do not use canopies) or more if needed for wind conditions. (see <http://wafarmersmarkets.org/resource-file/CanopySafety101.pdf> for info & ideas).

For More Information:

- Go to www.pofarmersmarket.org - for information on vendor types and eligibility & to download forms. If being a Backyard Farmer isn't for you, one of our other categories might be.
- Call or email our Market Manager with questions.
